This gut renovation of an 1899 brownstone won an International Passive House Design Award and included a third story addition and a new rear façade.

A unique showcase of the use of reclaimed wood, this two-family home was renovated to meet EnerPHit, the Passive House standard for retrofits.

This Passive House retrofit of a two-family townhouse reduced energy use per square foot to one-quarter of a typical New York State household.